Project description

The project starts from the evidence of a radicalization of ideologies and a political and cultural contrast between the EU States and the same citizens of European origin and others who come from the South and the East of the world. Disadvantaged conditions of social danger that require the promotion of inclusion measures.

The project identifies the acquisition of new skills from the operators in some crucial areas: educators of the formal training, of prisons and security forces, a literacy teaching of trainers and educators for the management of conflicts and differences. It is asked to the partners (Universities, Local Authorities, Study Centers and civil society Organizations with expertise in this field) a capacity and a competence in the identification, study and creation of new and incisive training and capacity building models, which are able to promote innovative practices to foster tolerance and non-discrimination.
